Accessing Services

The process for accessing Stonnington Aged Services is different for those aged under and over 65 years. Information regarding the process of accessing services for each age group is provided below.

For People Under 65 Years of Age

Contact Stonnington Aged Services on 8290 3224 to speak with us and find out more about what we do and how we might be able to help you. We will ask you some questions to see if you are eligible for services.

If you are eligible for any of our Care Services or Delivered Meals, we will visit you at home to discuss your needs in more detail. We will also look at your home to make sure it is safe for you and our staff. If you are eligible for any Community Support Services, Community Transport Services or Centre Based Meals, a home visit is not usually needed but may be arranged in some cases.

A care plan may be developed with you depending on the services you receive and the level of support you need. The care plan will identify your support needs and goals, and how these can be met to maintain your independence and wellbeing.

For People Over 65 Years of Age

Contact the My Aged Care contact centre on 1800 200 422, or visit the My Aged Care website at www.myagedcare.gov.au

The My Aged Care contact centre operates during the following hours:

- Monday – Friday: 8am – 8pm
- Saturday: 10am – 2pm

If you need an interpreter, call 131 450 and ask for 1800 200 422.

My Aged Care contact centre will discuss your eligibility and requirements and may arrange a home visit with an assessor to discuss your needs in more detail, including your support needs and goals and how these can be met to maintain your independence and wellbeing.

Eligibility

Stonnington Aged Services is committed to providing services for all eligible residents in a fair and equitable manner. We recognise and consider the needs of our diverse community including (but not limited to) cultural diversity, sexual orientation and gender identity, age, health, socio-economic status, faith and spirituality and those of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander background when planning and delivering our services. Services are allocated according to assessed and prioritised need.

Eligibility does not ensure entitlement to service provision. Eligibility means that the person is in the target group and is eligible to be assessed and prioritised for service provision. It may not be possible to provide services due to limited resources or other people being assessed as a higher priority for service.

Aged Services aims to provide services for the following special needs groups:

- People from a non-English speaking background.
- Aboriginals and Torres Strait Islanders.
- Persons suffering from dementia or other related disorders.
- People who experience or are at a risk of homelessness.
- Frail aged and other people with disabilities living in remote and isolated situations.
- Lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and intersex (LGBTI) people.

Individuals who fall within the special needs groups do not receive preference for service provision, however a range of strategies may be provided to improve their access to services and information including interpreters or other considerations.

To determine eligibility for services, please contact:

- Over 65 years of age: My Aged Care contact centre on 1800 200 422.
- Under 65 years of age: Aged Services on 8290 3224.

Priority of Access

All services are allocated according to level of need. Services are provided to individuals who are unable to perform tasks for themselves and who have no other support options available.

Available resources affect allocation of services. Services are prioritised to ensure those with the greatest need and/or capacity to benefit, receive priority for services. This is determined during the assessment and/or the allocation of services by using a score sheet called the “Priority of Access Tool”, which also ensures fairness and objectivity when services are allocated.

Waiting Lists

From time to time, where demand for services exceeds available resources, Aged Services may operate using waiting lists. Those people placed on the waiting lists are prioritised according to their assessed needs.

Waiting lists are reviewed regularly, and as resources become available, people are offered services according to their waiting list placement.

Should a waiting list be introduced for any service, information regarding this will be provided during the home visit, and other strategies or options may be suggested to assist prior to the availability or commencement of services.

Refusal of Service

Clients may refuse service from the Aged Services. Refusal of service will in no way hinder a client from accessing services in the future.

Aged Services may decline service at the conclusion of the home visit where a under 65 person is deemed as having low priority for service, and where their risk assessment score is low. The applicant will be informed at the time of assessment and information on other services and support options will be discussed. Information will be provided in writing detailing the reason, alternative options provided (if available) and to ensure the person is informed that they may re-apply for services in the future without prejudice.

Access to services for both under and over 65 may also be declined if it is determined that the referral does not meet the eligibility criteria, or needs for service are outside the scope of the services provided by Aged Services.

Aged Services may refuse or withdraw service should a client's health deteriorate and care needs exceed service boundaries or the eligibility criteria. This will be done in consultation with the client and/or carer.

In addition, where a client's health has improved, or situation has changed, services may be withdrawn or reduced according to the reassessed needs of the individual.

Services are allocated, and are always based upon review of changing needs.

If circumstances should change since the initial application, assessment or review, please contact Aged Services on 8290 3224 to discuss current needs and available supports.

Ineligibility

Should a person be determined as ineligible for a service they will be advised of the reason for the decision. Should they disagree with the decision they have the right to appeal the decision.

Appeals should be made in writing to the Manager Diversity and Aged Services, City Of Stonnington, PO Box 58, Malvern, 3144.

Service Exclusions

The focus of the services provided by Aged Services is to provide basic, low care assistance to clients. Some tasks required for maintaining client independence in the home are beyond the service provided by Aged Services. These tasks include (but are not limited to):

- PEG feeding
- High complex care (including behavioural)
- Hoisting
- Siblings in respite
- Administering of medication
- Where Occupational Health and Safety constraints apply
- Nursing intervention of unstable medical conditions

Should individuals have requirements that are beyond the scope of the services provided by the Aged Services, information and or Support Plan on other services and support options will also be discussed.

The City of Stonnington may decline or withdraw service should a client's health deteriorate and care needs exceed service boundaries or eligibility criteria. This will be undertaken in consultation with the client and/or carer.

Intake and Referral

For People Under 65 Years of Age:

Services may be requested directly by an individual, family member, health professional or service provider. To request information about accessing services provided by Aged Services contact 8290 3224. A referral made on behalf of someone else (i.e. by a family member, friend, doctor or health professional) must have consent.

The Assessment Administration Officer will determine client eligibility. If the applicant is eligible for services, the Assessment Administration Officer will provide further information on the process and confirm an assessment appointment time.

All eligible people referred to Aged Services receive a detailed and holistic assessment. The assessment identifies the person's strengths, needs and abilities and provides services or care that aims to maximise independence and maintain their health and safety. All information collected is treated confidentially. The Assessment Officer, in consultation with the client, will identify needs, suggest the appropriate service responses to those needs, and develop a care plan to address the range of needs to maximise client independence, health and safety.

For People Over 65 Years of Age

Information on services for people over 65 years can be requested by telephoning the My Aged Care contact centre on 1800 200 422. The contact centre will determine your eligibility and make a referral for an assessment. You will be contacted by the Assessment Service to make an appointment for an assessment in your own home. Or, you may be referred directly for services to the appropriate service provider. A service plan will be developed to determine the details of the service to be provided including commencement, frequency and time allocation, tasks to be undertaken, and other special requirements of service provision.

Care and Service Plans

Client requirements along with their Service and Care plans are monitored regularly and reviews conducted periodically.

Care workers rostered for in home services may access the individual client care or service plans, which are kept in the client's home to ensure services, are provided according to the client's assessed needs. Aged Services does not guarantee the continuity of care workers at each visit. Clients can expect to receive a range of care workers to assist them in their home.

Reviews

Following the initial assessment, a review date will be set. Aged Services will contact you to discuss issues regarding the services and any changes that may have occurred.

Reviews are undertaken on a regular basis to ensure services are appropriate to current needs. Reviews may be requested at any time by a client, their carer or family to address changing needs.

The review provides the opportunity to evaluate service allocation and current service needs and requirements. Where a client's health or situation has improved, services may be withdrawn or reduced according to the individual assessed needs. If Client health have deteriorated a referral or a Care Plan review through My Aged Care may be required for over 65s. Services are never infinitely allocated and are always based upon review of changing needs.

Withdrawal of Service - Exit Process

The services provided by Aged Services are designed to assist people with basic needs to remain living independently within the community. The services provide basic support and assistance to eligible people and are not designed to support people with complex, high-level care needs. Where a client's care needs exceeds the scope of the services provided by Aged Services, steps will be made to assist client/carers with the transition to other community supports available. Aged Services reserves the right to decline or withdraw service when a client's health deteriorates and care needs can no longer be met.

In the event of service withdrawal or decline, Aged Services will work with the client/carers to provide options for on-going care and support. Information and/or referral to other services and support options will be provided as appropriate to the needs of the client/carers.

Assistance from Aged Services is provided on both a long and short-term basis.

Service allocation is based on a person's assessed needs. Individual service allocation is reviewed to ensure services are meeting current needs and individual requirements. Clients are made aware of this during their initial assessment for service. Where an improvement in a client's health or situation occurs, services may be withdrawn or reduced according to current needs and care requirements.

Appeals Process

Clients have the right to appeal a decision made regarding access to care or services provided at any time without fear of prejudice or retribution. Each appeal will be judged individually.

Appeals should be made in writing to the Manager Diversity and Aged Services, City of Stonnington, PO Box 58 Malvern, 3144.

- If you are over 65 and disagree with a decision we have made about your complaint, you may contact the Commonwealth Ombudsman, Level 1, 441 St Kilda Road Melbourne VIC 3004. Telephone number 1300 362 072, or via website www.obudsman.vic.gov.au

Compliance with Service Requirements and Guidelines

Aged Services provides all clients with information on service requirements and guidelines at assessment (under 65) or service commencement (over 65). Clients are requested to consider these in conjunction with the services they receive. In order to receive service, clients must agree to comply with these requests. Failure to comply with these requirements and guidelines may result in the withdrawal of services.

Services in Detail

Care Services

Home Care

The focus of the Home Care service is to maintain a safe, healthy and hygienic home environment for the client. Home Care staff assist with the completion of (or undertake) tasks identified during the assessment process to assist the client to maintain secure and independent living.

The service undertakes essential household cleaning tasks. They may include cleaning the bathroom, toilet, kitchen, laundry, living areas and bedrooms. Tasks are performed only within the client's main living areas and not in areas used by non-eligible household members.

Other tasks may include machine-washing clothes, hanging-out laundry, folding and ironing (limited to 20 minutes at a time), bed making and dusting.

All Task lists are developed in consultation with the client. Tasks are identified according to an individual's needs.

Rights and Responsibilities

Services funded by the Commonwealth Home Support Program and Home and Community Care Program for Younger People are required by government to maintain certain standards in order to provide quality care. The rights and responsibilities described here are all related to those standards.

Commonwealth Home Support Program

From the 1st of July 2019, the Australian Government has introducing a new and simpler Charter of Aged Care Rights (the Charter). The Charter will make it easier for clients, their families and carers to understand what they can expect from any aged care service provider, regardless of whether they are in residential care or receiving care in the home. The Charter places the consumer at the centre of care by giving them choice and recognizing their right to be treated with respect. It acknowledges that identity, culture and diversity are to be valued and supported. Consumer responsibilities have also been revised. These changes will support us in delivering care to consumers and provide protection for the aged care workforce. Commencing 1 July 2019, we will be sending information to clients to assist them to understand the new Charter and invite them to sign it.

Fees and Charges

The fee for each service is means tested and will be calculated at the time of assessment or by Service Coordination Team at commencement, based on a self-declaration of income.

A person assessed as requiring services will not be denied a service if they are genuinely unable to pay the fees. If a resident is assessed as requiring a service but may be experiencing difficulty in paying, a fee reduction or fee waiver may be negotiated.

The City of Stonnington reserves the right to withdraw services from clients who have declared the ability to pay for services but do not pay their account.
