Social Story Inclusive Game On - indoor sports event

I am going to Stonnington Sports Centre to attend the Inclusive Game On indoor sports day.

I enter the sports centre through wide automatic sliding doors.
I may hear the doors opening and closing.

When I enter, I will see people at the front desk who work at the stadium. They are called staff. I can ask them questions if I need help.

The sports centre foyer has public toilets and change rooms that I can use. There are hand dryers in the toilets and change rooms. They can be noisy. I may hear toilets flushing and water running.

I can get water from the water fountain.

There is a café I can get food from.

The sports event will take place in Margaret Connellan Stadium.
I can get to the stadium entrance by ramp or stairs.

I enter the sports stadium through wide doors that push open.
I may hear the doors opening and closing.

In the sports stadium I may see children and adults. It can be noisy in the stadium. I may hear people talking, cheering and clapping, and balls bouncing. That is okay, they are having fun.

If it is too noisy, I can use my ear defenders, ear plugs or earmuffs.

There is a quiet room that I can go to if I need to take a break.
I can ask a staff member to show me where the room is.

I can put my bag or drink bottle on a bench or on the floor outside of the playing area of the courts.

There will be three sports set up that I can play:

- Basketball
- Wheelchair rugby
- Sitting volleyball

I can try each sport.

There will be volunteers on each court that will be providing guidance about each sport. They can help me with questions. I will listen to their instructions.

There may be others playing with the balls. That is okay. I will wait my turn. Waiting is a fair thing to do.

There will be tables with information flyers that I can get more about the sports I tried.

I can shake hands or say goodbye to volunteers and participants when I am leaving the event.
Playing sport is fun.
